Stepping Thru Accessibility

Janis Kent, FAIA, CASp, is the Founding President of the Certified Access Specialist Institute (CASI), serving all who are involved with access in the built environment, whether in private practice or the public sector. Ms. Kent is a licensed California Architect and designated a Subject Matter Expert (SME) by the California Division of the State Architect, a Certified Access Specialist. Kent has been involved in the world of Accessibility since the mid-1980's. In addition to managing a wide range of architectural projects, she has surveyed numerous facilities for accessibility compliance and provided quality control for facilities throughout the country.

Join CH&LA for a one-day seminar that will present a deep dive into the important issues concerning accessibility in hotels. This advanced accessibility training seminar will feature a certified access specialist (CASp) who will provide vital information about the many diverse accessibility elements in your property. This seminar will also address accessibility issues concerning the Americans with Disability Act (ADA). Hotel properties have recently become a target of attorneys filing accessibility lawsuits. Make sure your property is up to code and learn what to look out for to avoid any potential lawsuits.

SESSION DESCRIPTION

An overview of elements found in hotels, motels, inns, and restaurants along with their scoping and technical requirements. These are one of the more involved building types. Not only do guest rooms have a myriad of parameters but there are many diverse elements, each with their own set of requirements found within one facility. It is not unusual to find retail and restaurants, pools and fitness rooms, business and banquet facilities, not to mention valet service and hotel shuttles for even more complexity. We will also review some elements of barrier removal and what needs to be done even if no construction is planned.

If you have have specific facility-related questions on this topic, you can forward your questions with photos and the presenter will try to incorporate your question and the response into the seminar.
